Printed September 1, 2014 from http://www.cancer.net/research-and-advocacy/patient-advocates/patient-advocate-programs-asco-symposia/genitourinary-cancers-symposium

Genitourinary Cancers Symposium [1]

2015 Gastrointestinal Cancers Symposium

The 2015 Gastrointestinal Cancer Symposium will be held from January 15-17, 2015 in San Francisco, California.

For detailed information on patient advocate opportunities, registration, and housing, visit www.gicasym.org [2]. For additional questions, email patientadvocates@asco.org [3]. Find out more [4] about the symposium program and agenda, or view research abstracts from past meetings at www.asco.org/abstracts [5].

2014 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium - News for Patient

The 2014 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium was held January 30 - February 1, 2014, in San Fransisco, California.

Genitourinary Research Round Up: News from the 2014 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium [6]

Highlights from the 2014 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium, with Charles Ryan, MD [7]

In addition, the Conquer Cancer Foundation has announced the recipients of the 2014 Merit Awards in GU Cancers, which honor rising oncology researchers. The 15 award recipients will have the opportunity to present their research at this symposium. Learn more here [8].

2013 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium - News for Patients

The 2013 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium was held February 14-16, 2013, in Orlando, Florida.

Genitourinary Cancer Advances: News from the 2013 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium [9]

Highlights from the 2013 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium, with Bruce Roth, MD [10]

In addition, the Conquer Cancer Foundation announced the 25 recipients of its 2013 Merit Awards in Genitourinary Cancers. Recipients will have the opportunity to present their research at this symposium. Read more [11].

2012 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium - News for Patients

February 2-4, 2012, San Francisco, California.

Genitourinary Cancer Advances: News from the 2012 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium [12]

2012 Genitourinary Cancers Symposium Highlights, with Nicholas Vogelzang, MD [13]

This year's Symposium featured nearly 500 abstracts, including research from 20 oncology fellows selected [14] to receive Conquer Cancer Foundation of ASCO Merit Awards, designed to promote clinical cancer research by young investigators. These fellows, and the many other researchers committed to advancing progress in genitourinary cancers research, are helping to improve the lives of patients living with these cancers around the world.

Links:
[1] http://www.cancer.net/research-and-advocacy/patient-advocates/patient-advocate-programs-asco-symposia/genitourinary-cancers-symposium
[2] http://www.gicasym.org/patient-advocate-registration-and-housing
[3] mailto:patientadvocates@asco.org
[4] http://www.gicasym.org/meeting-program
[5] http://www.asco.org/abstracts
[6] http://www.cancer.net/research-and-advocacy/research-summaries?field_page_topic_tid_2=491&field_page_topic_tid=All&date_filter[value][year]=2014
[7] http://www.cancer.net/highlights-2014-genitourinary-cancers-symposium-charles-ryan-md
[8] http://www.conquercancerfoundation.org/foundation-announces-recipients-2014-merit-awards-genitourinary-cancers%20
[9] http://www.cancer.net/node/29276
[10] http://www.cancer.net/multimedia/podcasts
[11] http://www.conquercancerfoundation.org/foundation-awards-oncology-professionals-research-contributions-treatment-and-management
[12] http://www.cancer.net/node/25516
[13] http://www.cancer.net/podcasts
[14] http://www.conquercancerfoundation.org/foundation/What%27s+New/Oncology+Fellows+Outstanding+Clinical+Research+in+Ge