Endocrine Tumor - Statistics

This section has been reviewed and approved by the Cancer.Net Editorial Board [1], July / 2011

Statistics

Because there are different types of endocrine tumors (listed in the Overview [2]), read the guide for each type of tumor [3] for specific statistics regarding the number of people diagnosed and survival rates. Please note that these can vary widely and depend on many different factors, so it's important to talk with your doctor about statistics you find. Learn more aboutunderstanding statistics [4].
